Julia Miller

My Dearest Julia, This has really been a year to remember and you have made it that way. It has been a tremendous joy getting to know you this year. You are very dear and special to me and I'll always cherish our unique friendship. We had a lot of wild and crazy times in band and in study hall. You made my basketball banquet unforgettable. I've never met a lady like you before and I probably won't. We became very close in such a little time. You'll be on my mind the night of my Prom. I really wanted you to be there. Try not to forget me after I'm gone. You'll always be in my mind and heart. I hope that your future is a success. You have all the qualities that it takes to make it. You are talented and very intelligent and you have a personality that is unmatched. Believe me there's not another one like you. You also have the looks to go along with all the other features. So you should not fall short of being a success. May the winds of good fortune forever blow your way and may peace and happiness dwell at your living place. You'll never know how deep my respect and my feelings run for you.

Always keep a soft spot in your heart for the one who cares about you and cherishes the days that we spend together. Always keep a soft spot in your heart for the one who prays that God will shower his richest blessings upon you and let his angels always protect you. Always keep a soft spot in your heart for me. You are special to me.

A CLOSER LOOK

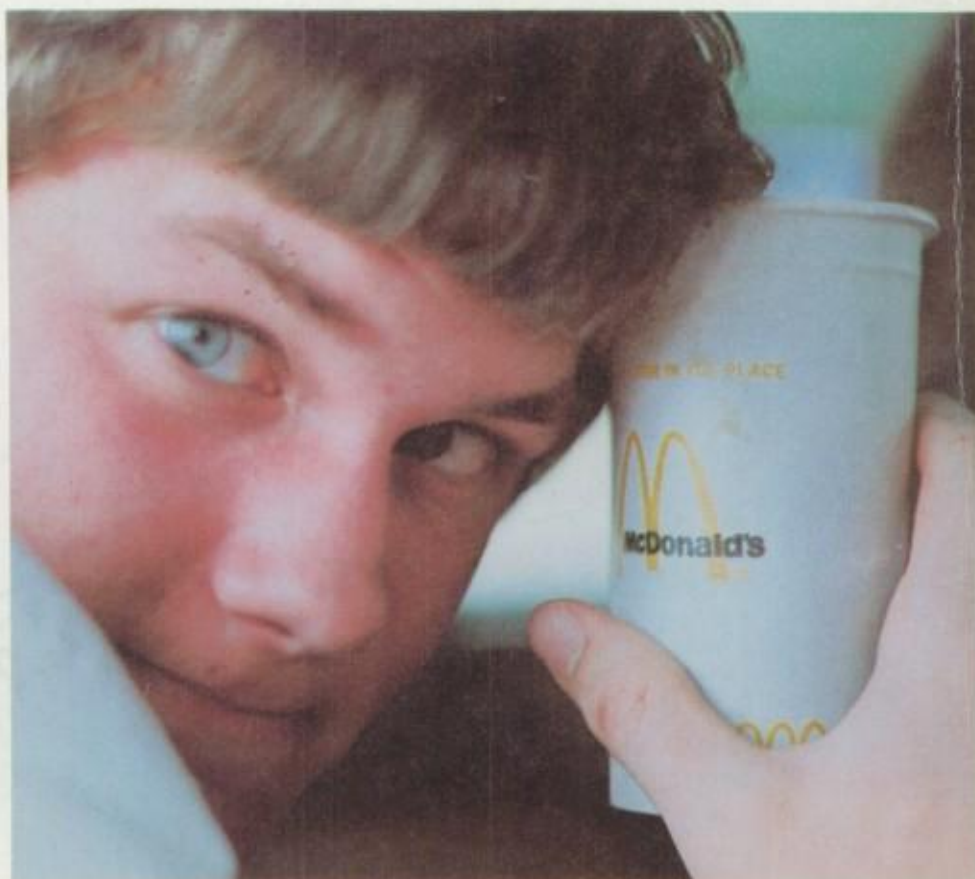

The end of a decade is traditionally a time for reflection, a closer look at where we have been, and where we are going. The academic year of 1979 also began a new decade; the '80's. In this overlapping period we hold on to traditions and venture forward seeking to establish new ones. A closer look reveals an increased enrollment (Alcoa is once again a four year high school), familiar as well as new faces among the faculty, additional subject offerings, an Office of Student Affairs, no ice cream, "B" team games, and competency tests. Travel awakens our eyes to the world around us as we go greater distances to attend competitions, open our doors to students from foreign lands, and the band ventures beyond our borders — to Mexico.

We invite you to take a closer look at Alcoa High School by turning the pages of the 1980 Aluminator.

Dear Julia,

It's been fun this year, but I'm finally getting out. You will probably miss me next year, but I will be around. Stay Cool + Black. This ~~crazy~~ white boy has to go. Good bye and Good luck.

Rove,
Darryl

DEDICATION

The qualities of kindness, understanding, helpfulness, unselfishness and enthusiasm are in highest demand as we enter the 1980's. Alcoa High School excels in these areas because of the example and leadership which you provide. A personal problem, homework, an athletic event, a perplexing question — we bring them all to you and you respond to our needs. A closer look reveals that you are tutor, advisor, confidant, friend, Alcoa High School graduate, the mother of three, the wife of Terry and our librarian. For your untiring efforts on behalf of all Alcoa High School students we honor Marsha Ware Brown. The 1980 Aluminator is dedicated to you, because you are dedicated to us.

Julia,
It has been a real pleasure getting to know you this year. I wish you you the very best.
Love,
Marsha Brown

In this book you will find Memories that are yours and mine.

Things to remember as the years go by Things to remember that were done on the sly.

We took together the bad with the good
But all and all we did the best that we could.

Our year was fun, our year was great
We won the championship the third year straight.

And though we may be a little crazy
The best, of course, is the class of '80.

A Decade Has Passed

CLASS HISTORY . . . FOUR YEARS IN REVIEW.

SENIOR CLASS HISTORY

Our senior year brought the end of a decade and the end of our four years at Alcoa High. These years were filled with memories which will be cherished by each of us.

Our freshman year began at Alcoa Jr. High in 1976 — the year of our country's bicentennial celebration. There we showed leadership, loyalty and enthusiasm in all class activities. We walked with confidence and were eager to express our opinions. At midyear the renovation of the junior high began, so we moved to the high school where we lost our look of confidence and gained one of bewilderment. Helping us over the hurdles of our freshmen woes were our class sponsors, Miss Dountz, Mr. Evans and Mr. Stephens. Class officers were President — Angie Sykes, Vice President — Gaylon Love, and Secretary — Jackie Marsh. Cheering for our freshmen football and basketball teams were our cheerleaders, Robyn Barber, Tina Coleman, Jama French, Jackie Marsh and Charlotte Tucker. The annual Miss School Spirit contest was won by Angie Sykes. Other freshmen candidates were Teri Fowler and Jackie Marsh. In the spring class members, loaded with candy, cookies, and bubblegum, boarded buses and headed for the Space Institute in Huntsville, Alabama. That trip was one of the highlights of our freshman year.

As our sophomore year began, we became more familiar with faces of students and teachers at Alcoa High. As we actually began our high school career, our sponsors, Mrs. Davis, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. Veal, Mrs. Rogers and Coach Webb were to give us direction and guidance for the next three years. Sophomore class officers were President — Robert Walker, Vice President — Mary Karnowski, Secretary — Sandra Thurman, and Treasurer — Carol Harless. We began to raise money for our senior year with a car wash at Hardees. We ordered and received our class rings. Some were promptly given away. As first year high school students we elected some of our classmates to the varsity cheerleading squad. Claire Alley and Robyn Barber were the sophomore cheerleaders chosen. Claire Alley was sophomore attendant for football homecoming, and Charlotte Tucker represented the sophomore class at the basketball homecoming. 1977 saw the Tornadoes win their first football championship. Lance Curtis, Adam Helton, Scott Brackett and Kent Davis were members of that team.

What a year we shared as juniors! We were no longer the youngest at school. The glow on our faces showed our enthusiasm and our happiness as our friendships grew. Class officers were once again elected with Robert Walker, president; Leyanne Abbott, vice president; Sandra Thurman, secretary; and Carol Harless, treasurer. Mrs. Smith became one of our sponsors. Jama French joined the cheerleading squad. Representatives to Girls' State were Sandra Thurman and Teresa Elder. Delegate to Boys' State was Scott Brackett. Our attendant for football homecoming was Robyn Barber, and Leyanne Abbott was our attendant for basketball homecoming. Once again Alcoa dominated class A football. We remained champions. The team's outstanding player was George Parker, who lead all statistics. We enjoyed the excitement and thrill of both boys and girls' basketball teams competing in the state tournament games. As juniors we began to walk toward the ladder of success. We began the first of many tests, PSAT and ACT. We became more and more aware of our senior year.

Alas our senior year arrived. We knew we were seniors when we had our pictures made in August. That was the beginning of "things", only seniors do; pictures, cards and announcements, memory books, keys and countless applications. We undertook the senior candy sale and paper drive to raise money for the prom scheduled for May 16 in Gatlinburg. Our accomplishments were plentiful. We regained our leadership quantities and again we walked with confidence. The football team acquired the title of Class A Champions for the third consecutive year, a feat never before accomplished by any Tennessee team. The band received superior ratings at several competitions and hosted the Class A Band State Championship. The realization that the end of our high school years was upon us became all too real when we received our caps and gowns. Throughout our successful years at Alcoa High, we won and lost, worked and played, laughed and cried. We will treasure the Aluminator as a pictorial history of the senior year of the class of 1980. Baccalaureate and graduation — now only a part of our past — memories to cherish.

The Alcoa chorus is small but active. This choral group is often called upon to perform for local civic groups throughout the year. Each spring the chorus is the nucleus of a musical which involves many former chorus members. Miss Emily Cline, former member of the U.T. singers directs the singing group.

Alcoa's Award Winning Marching Band

The new decade saw long distant travel for the band making a trip to Mexico in April, 1980. The trip was the icing on the cake for a very successful year of competition. Superior ratings were awarded to the band, majorettes, flags, rifles and drum major at Bristol and Cleveland.

"Being number one is the dream of every athlete" was the opening sentence in the football section of the '78 Alumina-tor. This dream continued through 1980 . . . Alcoa's football team became Class A State Champions for the third consecutive year. December 3, 1977, we hosted Lake County, December 2, 1978, we played at Goodpasture, and on December 7, 1979 we once again hosted Lake County. These victories were different, for no other team had won three championships in a row. Four young men hold the distinct honor of playing through all of this. They are Scott Brackett, Lance Curtis, Kent Davis, and Adam Helton. Steve Fugate became Alcoa's new head coach in 1979. Along with the assistance of Dan Webb, Ron Phelps, and James Dalton, he maintained Alcoa's championship record.

ALCOA BASKETBALL 79-80 "ALWAYS A THREAT"

*To A NICE FRIEND Who I will ALWAYS Remember.
Good luck. HATE #32*

The extended football season (four weeks) delayed the return of several regulars and a few newcomers to this year's basketball team. Unlike the past two years, the roundballers were strong at the start of the season and remained the dominating team in Class A basketball as well as in Blount County. No area team can match the Tornados coached by Vernon Osborne and David Marsh. The Alcoa team scored over 100 points more than once thanks to the sharp shooting of junior forward Mike Pittard. Leadership was provided by all three seniors: Gaylon Love, Richard Brown, and Terry Whitted. These seniors and their families were honored at the last home game —senior night. The entire basketball season cannot be reported at this time as the yearbook goes to the printer in February, however it looks as if the Tornados who are ranked number two in the state will be traveling to the State Tournament in March.

Alcoa freshman ball players are important to the varsity basketball program. They are the future. They carry on the Alcoa tradition with pride and assurance of a strong basketball program at Alcoa.

LADY TORNADOES

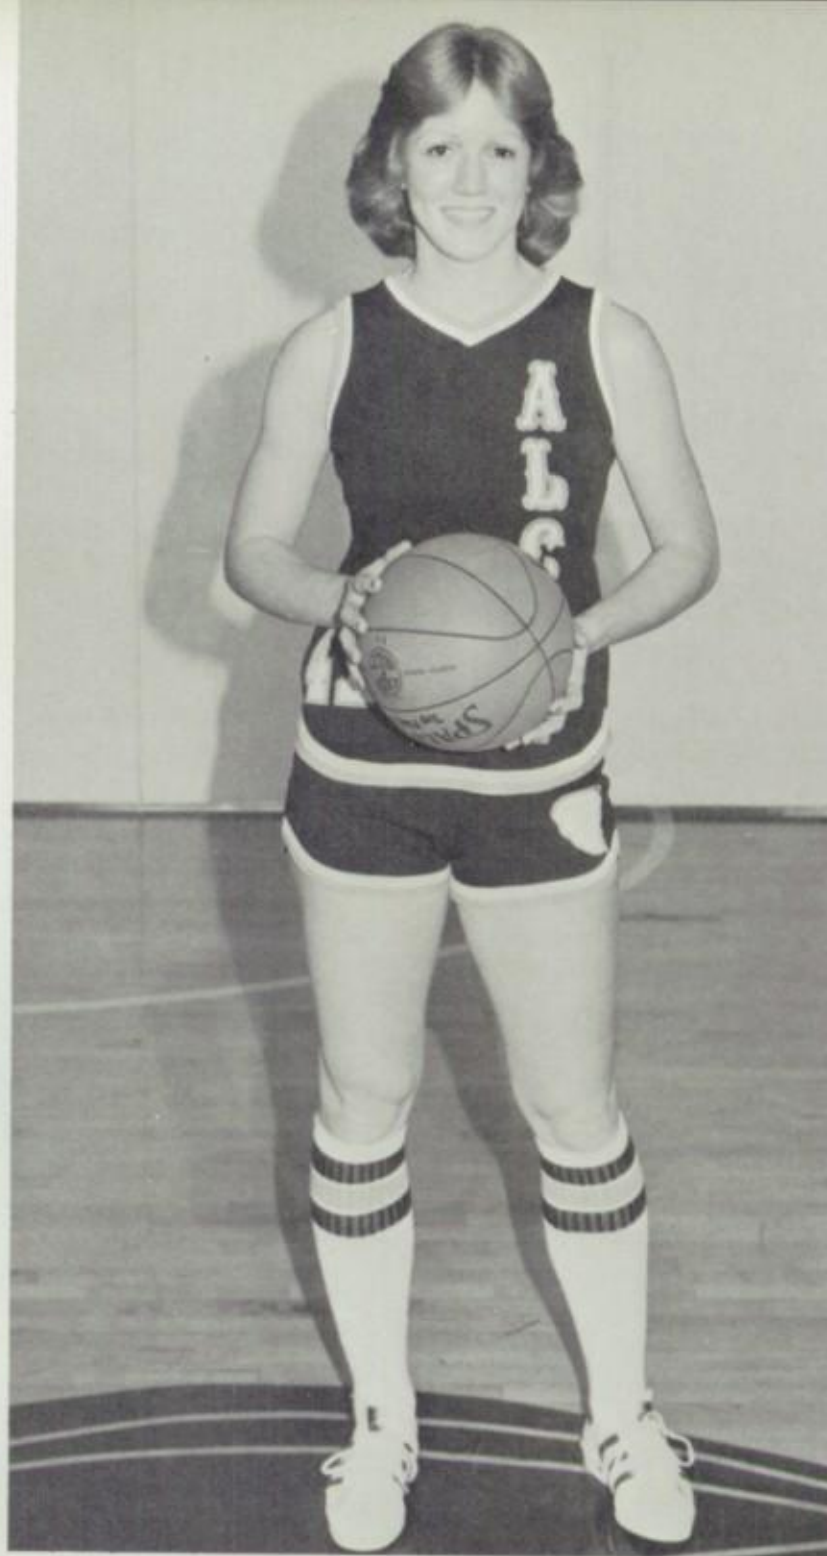

The Lady Tornados once again found themselves short on members yet long on determination. In the first year of a five member playing squad, the girls spent many hours in training and learning the new rules for girls basketball. The girls have only one senior, Teresa Elder. Junior Becky Whitehead has experience from last year's squad who traveled to the State Tournament. The highlight of the young team came in December when the Alcoa team won the Jaycee Classic Tournament and Regina Dalton received the award for Most Valuable Player.

BASEBALL 1980

When Alcoa returned to the diamond late March 1980, there were six returning lettermen and four others from the 1979 team. These young men plus several new faces kept the tradition of the Alcoa baseball team coached by L.A. Campbell. James Stephens and Terry Tuttle — not pictured.

PEP CLUB

Under the direction of Dan Collins and the leadership of President Larry Effler, the Pep Club showed the spirit that once was so outstanding at Alcoa. Signs decked the halls, students dressed as hillbillies, and teachers wore Alcoa t-shirts. This was how one decade ended and another began. School spirit brought teams into championship games and the celebrations that followed. The Pep Club sponsored several activities throughout the year including the Anything Goes night.

Life can be a cool + really trip experience if you allow it to be.
Problems + situations will come but All can be conquered if handled properly + positively. Remain as you are, be yourself and be thankful for your positive qualities and use them to the "MAX". The sky is the limit to those who attempt to reach it realistically.
Always do you very best at what you try to do, and never settle for average. Use each day as a seed to be planted and to be reaped in the future.
Don't waste those seeds. There will be plenty of time for fun, pleasures, guys, money etc. Prepare for the days ahead. Observe + learn from others mistakes and I always be your #1 fan
